Doxsee Names Group To Modernize All Village Ordinances

Points to Fact Some Date Back to 1926; Weyrauch Chairman

Mayor Robert L. Doxsee today announced the appointment of a reorganization committee to reconsider and redraft the entire code of Freeport village ordinances in a new and modern form. The work of the committee will be allocated among four sub-committees which have been formed. Each committee will invite suggestions from interested citizens, and when such a step seems desirable, public hearings will be held.

"For some time the Village Board has been giving thought to bringing our ordinances up-to-date. Only those of us who deal with these important matters on a day-to-day basis know the difficulties of administration and enforcement that have crept in because of amendments, and amendments upon amendments, which make it difficult to follow the exact meaning of some ordinances and to keep them on a workable basis."

Ordinances Date Back to 1926
Some of the laws have been written as long ago as 1926. In the intervening years we have passed from a village of 4,000 or 5,000 people to a metropolis of more than 25,000—larger than many American cities. Many of our ordinances are still those adaptable to affairs in a small community. They have been redrafted, amended and in some instances repealed, but what we have is a patch-work job, not worthy of a community as up-to-date as ours.

"Since these ordinances were first drafted there has been a great change in the application of laws from Federal and State governments, through county and town down to villages. Our county has a separate, new and modern charter of its own, geared to present-day realities, but our own village code still lags behind."

Eddie Vasil INTRODUCES ...Joseph Himmelfarb

"Give With Faith, Build With Vision." That's the slogan of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, and Joseph Himmelfarb is chairman of the Freeport Division. A breakfast to launch inauguration plans for the building of the proposed Long Island Jewish Hospital (non-sectarian) will be held on Sunday, Jan. 22, in Temple B'nai Israel.

Chairman Joseph Himmelfarb is a symbol of the spirit of unity and vision which prevails among the sponsors of this project, the roster of which includes the names of leaders from every field of endeavor.

Joe was born in New York City forty years ago, and has been a resident of Long Island for twenty-five years. He started in the drug business when he was but thirteen years old, working after school. Drugs are his vocation, as they were for twenty-seven other members of his family, the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies has become his avocation. He sums it all up by saying "Some of my best friends are human beings."

The story of the Himmelfarbs is the story of a typical Long Island family. Joe's wife is the former Alice Silverman. They reside at 218 E. Dean st., with two sons, Neil and Roy. Joe is vice president of the Freeport Drug Shop, 76 S. Main st., which is celebrating its tenth successful year of operation. His partner, Harry J. Cohen, is president. Mr. Himmelfarb attended public schools in New York, Seward High School, and was graduated from Long Island University, Brooklyn College of Pharmacy. While at college he won acclaim as an orator and expert story teller. This reputation still prevails. His shop is a clearing house of stories and he is known as the "Mr. Anthony" of the Main Stem. Whether it's a sad or happy tale, it ends up with Joe Himmelfarb. He is a member of organizations which include B'nai B'rith, Zionist, Chamber of Commerce and Freeport Merchants Council.

This is not only a story about Joseph Himmelfarb, but also about the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, and its wish, inspired by a sincere desire to see the achievement of their goal: A Long Island Jewish Hospital.

Long Island citizens have a rare opportunity this year to render a great service to their community and to themselves to pioneer in the building of the proposed Long Island Jewish Hospital, Queens, Suffolk and Nassau Counties, which are among the fastest growing communities in the country, represent the most under-hospitalized section in the (Continued on Page 4)

Freedom Train in Freeport Friday-Saturday Jan. 20, 21

The Freedom Train will be in Freeport two days, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 20 and 21, it was announced by Superintendent of Schools John W. Dodd at a faculty meeting held on Monday. The stay here will be for the benefit of residents of Freeport, Baldwin, Merrick, North Merrick and Bellmore. Children may visit the train Friday from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. and also all day Saturday. For the general public the hours will be from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M., both days.

A film "Freedom Train" was shown at the faculty meeting. Dr. Dodd in making the announcement said among other things: "This Freedom Train may bring to the community a livelier understanding of what it means to be an American. In cooperation with other community agencies, it would be well to make this occasion an opportunity for self-examination and reeducation to American principles, not merely for a special day, but starting now and continuing long after the Train's journey is done."

"A visit to this train with its many exhibits of historical documents is an important educational event for this area. Classroom discussion can help to give these important exhibits a fuller, deeper, meaning to the pupils who will visit the train."

Sewer District 13, Hearing Adjourned

Because additional data was needed before action was taken, the Freeport Sewer Commission at a meeting held Monday night in the Municipal Building, adjourned a hearing on the proposed establishment of Lateral Sewer District 13 until Monday night.

Chairman Leo Fishel announced it had been found additional funds would be needed to launch the project into the district than was originally contemplated. Before action can be taken several matters have to be taken into consideration. He said, however, the money would not become available until March so the week's adjournment would not cause any delay in the creation of the district.

Grade Elimination Plans Now in Hands Of P.S. Commission

Hearings Close With Nicholson's Account Of Savings Unshaken

Public Service Commission's hearings on plans for eliminating the railroad grade crossings in Freeport are over and in six or seven weeks Commissioner George A. Arkwright will have to hand down the decision in the matter.

The hearings ended with two plans before the commission, the authorized or Cohen plan predicated on hearings held 16 years ago, and the village plan as designed by Consulting Engineer Harry A. Strecker, Jr., designed to draft an elimination project that will provide for the present needs and future growth of the village.

At the end, testimony given at the previous hearing by John M. Nicholson, engineer of the Long Island Railroad, that under the Strecker plan a saving of $732,000 could be effected in the cost of the project, remained unshaken, though Kenneth E. Vought, counsel for the opponents of the village plan, pled him with questions for nearly two hours. In fact, Commissioner Arkwright plainly showed his displeasure at Mr. Vought's method of cross-examination and granted most of the exceptions interposed by Village Counsel Martin H. Wey-

200 At Commerce Chamber Open Meeting-Urged To Join

More than 200 merchants, proprietors of industries, professional men and just plain citizens accepted the invitation of the Freeport Chamber of Commerce to attend an open meeting Tuesday night in Guy Lombardo's East Point House to discuss the welfare of the village and the chamber itself. And the management of the restaurant served a bountiful buffet supper "on the house."

David Levy officiated as master of ceremonies and after introducing numerous speakers, issued an appeal for all to join the Chamber of Commerce. He pointed out that a relatively few people have been "carrying the ball" for many years and said "this was unfair for the others. He told of the need of having a strong organization to boost Freeport and cited the case of how the village lost the opportunity to induce a department store to locate here back in the days of Robert E. Patterson as Mayor because the efforts of a small group were not backed up."

All urged to Cooperate
President Joseph Goldblatt in his remarks asserted that the Chamber of Commerce might aptly be termed "the guardian of our fair village." "Its duties are not alone to the commercial aspect or local merchants," he continued, "but has the interest and welfare of every man, woman and child resident of our community at heart. It is at all (Continued on Page 4)

Hits 'Phony' Managers Who Pit Boys Against Pros; Demands Action

Carlino to Introduce Bill to End Abuses And Regulate Sport

Irked by the action of the New York State Boxing Commission in white-washing a promoter accused of illegally inveigling youthful boys into boxing, Joseph Romeika today announced his intention of carrying his fight to Albany in an effort to obtain legislation to rectify the situation.

After a couple hearings on Romeika's charges, Daniel Dowd, chief commissioner, announced: "There is equivalence of any violation of the commission's regulations as far as professional fights and licenses are concerned."

"However, the commission did find a couple of technical violations of Amateur Athletic Union which will be turned over to the A.A.U."

Tells of Boys' Admission
"The investigation may be over as far as the New York State Boxing Commission is concerned, but it certainly isn't over as far as I'm concerned," Patrolman Romeika said. "The State Boxing Commission received the information 'they are over and in six or seven weeks Commissioner George A. Arkwright will have to hand down the decision in the matter.'"

The boys involved as to where and when illegal boxing bouts were held, but because it doesn't show on the Commission's records, the bouts never took place as far as they are concerned. Several boys, in my presence and in the presence of the commission, admitted fighting illegally under assumed names in New Britain, Conn., Stamford, Conn. and other places.

"In fact one boy admitted fighting illegally under an assumed name in Connecticut at the age of fifteen. This is not only a violation of the laws of the Boxing Commission, but a crime as well. The fault is not that of the boys, but rather of the phony managers handling these kids, building them up with the 'milk' of getting rich quick, and promising big money. What happens?—The boys receive an awful let-down in the end. Yes, the end which results in punch drunkenness, blindness, deafness, and so on, which adds up to making boxing legalized murder!"

Seeks to Protect Others
"Boxing is a wonderful sport if it is kept clean, and the only way it (Continued on Page 2)

that even our Zoning Ordinance No. 123 adopted in 1945 needs reconsideration, clarification and rephrasing. Cases that have come up in other villages within the past year or two show us where we need to make adaptations in order to protect the community properly.

To Adopt Ordinance

"The committee which I am designating to take this matter in hand will have its work divided so that each group may concentrate on some special phase of village ordinances; comparing ours with those of other municipalities, adapting them to the recent State and Federal laws, and to current court opinions; and particularly consulting with people of our own village who are interested in such specific forms of activity as will render their opinion valuable.

"New names will be added to the committees as needs develop. We want the cooperation of all citizens so that we may get the best results. At the head of each group I have designated an attorney who will be responsible for the program of hearings and revision. Assisting each attorney will be a Village Trustee and a civilian Commission member."

Weyrauch General Chairman
The general chairman of the Mayor's Recodification Committee will be Martin H. Weyrauch, Village Counsel. The following groups will take up their work:

1. Ordinances Primarily Involving the Person (Health, Sanitation, Public Conduct, etc.). Attorney Louis Allison, Trustee Leonard D. E. Smith and Commissioner Raymond Clements.

2. Ordinances Involving the Safety Factor (Fire Dept., fire regulations, traffic, parking and vehicles). Attorney Worden E. Wipne, Trustee Cord Viebrock and Commissioner F. Gordon Edwards.

3. Zoning and Building Ordinances. Attorney George Matlen, Trustee Seward J. Baker and Commissioner William E. Crevolesat.

4. Ordinances Primarily Involving Public Uses (Licenses, Streets and Sidewalks, Waterways, etc.). Attorney Tullio Tomaselli, Trustee William F. Glacken and Commissioner Alex. MacLeod.

BOOK REVIEW CLUB TO MEET

Mrs. Gilbert Fletcher, program chairman, has announced as the program a round-table discussion on such books as Alan Paton's "Cry the Beloved Country" which have been made into musicals.

Pellicio, Busy, Resigns As Unity Party Member

Ralph Pellicio, who served several years as campaign manager of the Unity Party, has submitted his resignation to Dr. George A. Newton, the party president. He gives stress of business as the reason for his action.

His letter reads:
"I regretfully advise that I can no longer continue as a member of the Unity Party.
"Ever since its creation, I have devoted undivided effort time and energy so that the principles upon which the Unity Party is built can be fostered and its goal reached. I feel that these purposes have been accomplished.

"Due to the pressure of business and to the fact that my business has grown to such an extent that it requires all of my time and effort for the administration of the same, I tender my resignation as a member of the Unity Party.
"I sincerely hope that the members and officers of the Unity Party will continue to carry its banner ever forward."

can be kept clean is to rid the game of the phonies involved. The managers taking underage youngsters to fight professionally under assumed names hurt the kids' chances when their names are involved in amateur boxing. But, to my way of thinking, it's best that we reveal the names of the ones that we know are involved now, even though it may stop their chances in the Golden Gloves, so that we may help thousands of other youngsters in the future with boxing as their sport and ambition.

"This boxing racket hasn't just started. It has been going on for years. I am very much interested in knowing just how much action the Connecticut authorities intend to take. I would like to know how and why these crooked, money-glutton managers were able to get away with putting boxers in the ring under assumed names, using phony licenses without them ever getting wise to it—or was it done with their knowledge and consent?

Each license and photo is supposed to be checked very carefully by a member of the Boxing Commission.

This seems to show that they have been very lax.

"I had a long talk with the Assemblyman Joseph F. Carlinio of Long Beach, who has been very interested in this investigation, and he is going to introduce a bill to make it a crime for any person or manager in New York State, or any manager out of this State coming into this State to take under-age boys out of this State to fight professionally, or for any manager or person in this State to take under-age boys out of this State for any illegal professional fights. This bill, passed, will be something really worthwhile accomplished.

"I want to thank all the Long Island and Metropolitan newspapers and radio commentators that have helped me in this investigation by not letting it die a quick death. It has put the public wise and alert to what is going on and therefore these crooked, phony managers who have exploited youth will probably have to seek other ways and means of earning their easy dollars.

"I will continue seeking and accumulating information and will welcome any of the same from those who have had any unpleasant or unfortunate experiences with corrupt promoters or managers. May we drive them to their downfall for our youth must be protected."

Here's How To Dial In One Easy Lesson

Chester A. Fulton Recalls Days Of First Telephones In Freeport

It doesn't seem long ago—only 45 years—that there were only ten local telephone operators in Freeport, according to Chester A. Fulton, one of Freeport's oldest telephone subscribers.

Mr. Fulton, with his wife and Mrs. Lewis Charles, his daughter, were guests last week of W. B. Billmeyer, New York Telephone Co. manager here, on a tour of the new dial central office, 120 Grove st., which will shortly provide dial service for more than 9,500 Freeport telephone subscribers.

"We used to know those ten operators by name, and we sent them presents every Christmas," he said. He hastened to add that when the number increased to 60, and then began to approach the present number of nearly 300, Christmas presents for all were out of the question.

Mr. Fulton easily recalled the days around the time when the central office moved in July 1904 from Thomas Johnson's drug store to Merrick Road where it was installed with 40 lines. There were two telephone companies operating in Freeport at the time—the New York Telephone Co. and a small concern operated by John Dunbar. "Back in those days I had two telephones—one operated by each company," he said. "Sometimes they'd both begin to ring at the same time!" The companies merged in 1906.

Contemplating the rows of ceiling high steel frames containing thousands of hand-soldered wires of the new dial equipment, Mr. Fulton shook his head. "It's uncanny!" he exclaimed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton received a first-hand lesson in how to make a dial telephone call from Mr. Billmeyer, who stressed the importance of waiting for the dial tone before dialing a number. Mr. Billmeyer also pointed out that subscribers should check any numbers they will be calling, and make a note of them since 5,500 subscribers will have their numbers changed. Personal number booklets will be furnished on request without charge, he added.

"To reach a number," he said, "you must dial the first two letters of the exchange you are calling, for X, Y, Z, and R for Freeport, and then five more numbers." He remarked that each subscriber will receive an instruction booklet.

Mrs. Charles, who had been examining the equipment with a great deal of interest, asked, "What happens to party line numbers that have a letter on the end?"

"With the new dial system, there will be no letter at the end of the party line number," Mr. Billmeyer explained. "Each subscriber will have a separate number. Those who are at present on party line will retain party line service and rates."

Mrs. Fulton mentioned that she had accidentally turned the dial while telephoning "I cut myself off!" she exclaimed. Mr. Billmeyer explained that if the dial is turned during conversation before or after conversion to dial the call will be disconnected.

"I never stopped being impressed by the wonderful attitude of the 'Hello Girls,'" Mr. Fulton said. "Those cheerful 'please' and 'thank you' expressions of theirs go a long way in this world. But I'm really looking forward to using the dial!" he added.

DOGS DAMAGING LAWNS SOUTHWEST CIVICS SAY

Complaint was voiced at the monthly meeting of the Southwest Civic Association Monday night, in Exempt Firemen's Hall that numerous dogs that followed children to the Archer st. school, hung around the neighborhood and did serious damage by scratching up lawns or homes in the vicinity. It was voted to appeal to the Police Department to look into the matter and enforce the ordinance prohibiting owners to permit dogs to roam at large.

President William Allyn presided. Mrs. Gustave Dotter and K. W. Putnam were received as members.

Authoress Is Heard By Athena Members

Mrs. Anna Rose Wright Who Wrote, 'Jimmy John' Gives a Talk

Mrs. Anna Rose Wright, author, gave an interesting talk at a meeting sponsored by the Literature Department of the Athena Club Monday afternoon in the auditorium of the Columbus ave. school. She was introduced by Mrs. Gilbert S. Flint, the department chairman.

Mrs. Wright wrote "Jimmy John" which appeared in the July issue of the Ladies Home Journal. The article was a condensed version of a book "Room for One More," which will be off the press next month.

A reminder was given that all application for new membership in the club must be received and voted on by the executive board before February, as after February no further applications will be considered until fall.

Mrs. Gockley, Mrs. Cornelius Van Reese and Mrs. I. J. Regan were appointed delegates to the convention of the Long Island Federation of Women's Clubs. The annual presentation of books was made by Mrs. E. D. Philbrick, chairman of ways and means.

In accordance to a custom of many years 14 books were presented to the Freeport Memorial Library in commemoration of the youths of Freeport who have given their lives to their country. Mrs. Philbrick said these books on drama and its varied aspects had been carefully selected with the thought of their educational and cultural value. The front page of each book has a plate especially designed and executed by Mr. Julius Fenyo. As president of the Board of the Freeport Memorial Library, Rev. Reginald H. Scott accepted these books and expressed his appreciation as well as that of two other board members who were present J. Edwin Clark and John Ray. Other members were represented by their wives, Mrs. Russell H. Hotaling and Mrs. Jerome Ross.

Following the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Alfred J. Brady and her associates, on the hospitality committee. Mrs. William E. Hanna, chairman of hostesses greeted the members and guests as they arrived. Plans for January and the big event of the year, the presidents' day, and theatre party in February were made at the first executive board meeting of 1950 in the home of Mrs. Roy R. Gockley, the president.

Mrs. Alan Carver, art chairman, announced an unusual demonstration lecture on "Leaves from My Grandmother's Cook Book," to be given by Elizabeth A. Kilbourne Monday afternoon, Jan. 23, in the Columbus ave. school. The speaker will prepare one of her recipes and present it to someone in the audience.

For the Civics Department, Mrs. Garrett A. Goetschius, Jr., reported a lecture to be given by Enid Hall Griswold, Monday afternoon, Jan. 30, in the Seaman ave. school. Her topic will be "The Responsibility of Citizenship." Mrs. Griswold has devoted many years to the study of civic affairs, state and national problems.

Mrs. Charles A. Lutz, chairman of the Drama Department, has designated Wednesday, Feb. 15, as the date for the club's annual theatre party when a group of members will go to Manhattan to witness a performance of "Chatterback." Tickets may be obtained by Mrs. Richard Emra at Monday's meeting.

Presidents from many clubs are expected to attend the meeting on Monday, Feb. 6, when the program will be given by the music and drama departments headed by Mrs. Meredith Clowes and Mrs. Lutz respectively. A. O. The play, "The Stolen Prince" will be given by members of the drama group. The choral selections will be in keeping with the Oriental atmosphere.

S. Nassau Hospital To Elect Monday

The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the South Nassau Communities Hospital will be held Monday night in the McIntosh Studios, Rockville Centre, it was announced by Harrison B. Wright, president of the Board.

Entertainment will be provided after the meeting and refreshments served under the auspices of the Hospital Auxiliaries.

Servicenter Owner To Give 10 P.C., Of Gas Sales To The March of Dimes

As a token of appreciation over the success of his first year in business, Rube Hankin of the Freeport Esso Servicenter, South Grove and West Merrick rd., is to donate 10 percent of the receipts from gasoline sales to the March of Dimes during the two-week period starting Saturday and concluding Saturday, Jan. 28.

The center was opened Jan. 15, 1949 with Cecil C. Ryan, then Mayor of Freeport, cutting the ribbon, and business has been good ever since. The proprietor sought some way of showing his gratitude to the community for their patronage.

Should he give each customer some sort of a gadget, which might cost him a dollar or two, or could he find a better way? He said he read in the newspapers during the summer how the spread of polio was growing throughout the whole country and how Nassau county was the hardest hit of any county in New York state. Having a daughter of his own, who could be a possible victim of the dread disease, he thought that the most appropriate way to show his gratitude was to aid the polio fund.

Possibly another factor, is that he remembered other husbands take notice) that his wedding anniversary also occurs during that two week period, and he could in that read in the newspapers during the summer how the spread of polio was growing throughout the whole country and how Nassau county was the hardest hit of any county in New York state.

Others were as follows:
$25.00 Joseph H. Gray, Samuel L. Golden and Chrysler-Plymouth.
$10.00 Fred C. Berge, the Fashion Shop, and Patterson-Miller, Inc.

metropolitan area. There is not a single voluntary Jewish hospital on Long Island.

The chief item in the Federation's building fund program for Long Island is the proposed $3,500,000 Long Island Jewish Hospital which calls for departments in medicine, general surgery, obstetrics and pediatrics, and for the service to the community on a non-sectarian basis. It will be a 200-bed institution with service facilities for possible expansion to 400 beds. It will be the first voluntary Jewish hospital on Long Island.

The breakfast on January 22nd, serves a dual purpose. Beside launching the drive, it is also held in honor of Dr. David S. Goldstein in appreciation of his many years of service to the community and his devotion to the Jewish charities.

"To build a hospital is a feat; but research and maintaining the institution is the accomplishment, and the determining factor between success and failure." These were the words of Freeport Chairman, Joseph Himmelfarb. Everyone should be guided by a true scale of values and realize the importance of the basic projects in life by cooperating in such worthy causes as this hospital drive. "Give with faith, build with vision."

times ready and willing to further and champion any cause which will be of benefit to Freeport, its industries and its citizens.

Throughout 1950 it is the aim of all the officers and members of our organization to promote Freeport as the garden spot of Long Island for its residents; a paradise for its vacationists and sportsmen; a good place to work for its employees and a sound investment for all types of business which might be a boon to Freeport.

"To successfully promote the ambitious program we have in mind for Freeport, it is essential that this Chamber of Commerce—the Village Fathers and Council, the local merchants, the civic associations and service clubs, the various industries and all our residents cooperate 100 per cent and work together harmoniously to put Freeport where it so rightfully belongs. We must have more industries and more homes which will surely increase our population and make available an additional source of revenue and income to our local government and our merchant group, all of which makes for prompt growth and prosperity."

Mayor Robert L. Dosses outlined the development of a system of parking fields to make Freeport an attractive place in which to shop and the need of a parking plaza at the railroad station. W. Sargeant Nixon, cashier of the Freeport Bank, and Don Weller of the Meadowbrook Bank, Village Trusts, Leonard B. Smith and Eddie Vasil were among the other speakers.

All the officers of the chamber and the members of the Village Board were introduced. Community singing followed the formal meeting. Many of those present signed up.

Legion Urges Larsen
For County Head

Names Committee To Push Candidacy At
Other Post Meetings

William Clinton Story Post, A.L., is grooming G. Howard Larsen, commander of the post, for election as county commander at the annual convention to be held in Mineola in June. Mr. Larsen was endorsed for the post at the semi-monthly meeting Friday night in the Dugout. Past post and past county commander Herman C. Duncker, chairman; Commander Kenneth C. Vought and Vice-Commander Oscar J. Pultz were appointed a steering committee to attend meetings of other posts and endeavor to induce them to back Mr. Larsen for the nomination.

The campaign will be carried on until the annual second district caucus is called by Malcolm DeKroth, the district commander, in May, probably in Rockville Centre, when an effort will be made to obtain the district endorsement for the Story post member. At Friday night's meeting it was indicated at least one other post was likely to enter a candidate in the field, but it was pointed out that the treasurer's position is regarded as leading to election as county commander.

Mr. Larsen served in the Rainbow Division over seas during World War I and as a Red Cross Field Director in the Pacific area during World War II. He is a counselor of the committee on veterans affairs in Mineola.

A vote of thanks was extended to George V. Maurer, and his committee for its work in rehabilitating 700 toys and distributing them among needy children in time for Christmas. A letter of thanks was received from a group of parents in Roosevelt where 125 toys were given out, and another from James G. Walsh, superintendent of the Nassau County Sanitarium in Farmingdale for the party given the children there.

Announcement was made that ladies' night would be observed on Friday night, Jan. 20, when there will be an entertainment and dance.

Commander Vought declined the offer of the post to send him and his wife as its representatives to the dinner to be given to National Commander George Craig of Brazil, Neb., in the Waldorf-Astoria, Manhattan, on Thursday night, Feb. 2. A large delegation is expected to attend the past county commander's dinner to be given in the dugout of Andrew Patchter Post, Valley Stream, Saturday night, Feb. 4, when the national commander will be the guest of honor. Louis D. Silva is in charge of reservations for the event.

Children Of Freeport First In Rheumatic Fever Program

Freeport was the first community in Nassau County to benefit from the program of the Nassau County Tuberculosis and Public Health Association to combat rheumatic fever. All the schools in Freeport are participating in this program.

The smooth operation of this program involves the cooperative efforts of school personnel, community volunteers, Meadowbrook Hospital, the County Health Department and other community agencies.

About a year ago, Miss Marian V. Fegley, director of the rheumatic fever program, came to Freeport and talked to the teachers of all the schools. This was to acquaint them with the signs and symptoms of rheumatic fever so they could assist in finding cases as early as possible. The teachers report any suspicious deviations from normal health to either Edith Waters, Ann McGrath or Gladys Derrick, the local school nurse-teachers.

The nurse-teachers arrange for an examination of students to be given either by Dr. Stephen Gerde, Dr. S. D. Bird or Dr. Walter Wilmut, the school physicians. If the doctor suspects rheumatic fever or if the child's own doctor has reported a cardiac condition, arrangements may be made for the child to go to the Cardiac Consultation Service at Meadowbrook Hospital.

Each school district participating in the program is allotted special time at the Consultation Service for examination of all the children referred from that district. At the Cardiac Consultation Service the children from Freeport are given numerous tests so an accurate diagnosis can be made. Cardiac specialists then examine the child, evaluate the results of the tests and make recommendations. These findings are then sent to the school physician and to the child's family doctor.

To date about 59 children from Freeport have benefited from this service.

A local committee of volunteers has been set up to assist in this program under the chairmanship of Mrs. Philip Bernstein, 245 West Seaman ave.

If the child is to be kept in bed at home, the public health nurse is ready to give assistance to the child and family when needed, working cooperatively with the family physician as long as is necessary. Complete care may require the cooperation of the child's family doctor.

A & P Charges Suit Aimed at Big Business

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. charged this week that the current anti-trust suit against the company is really "a suit against efficiency and against real competition."

The company announced its intention of running a series of advertisements telling about previous suits brought against A&P by the anti-trust lawyers in which the charges were proven to be false.

"In case after case they made charges against A&P which were proved in court to be utterly without foundation," the ad read.

The first ad cited one such suit in which it was cleared of anti-trust charges of conspiracy to fix bread prices. Under the caption, "The Washington Bread Case," the decision of Federal Judge Allen T. Goldsborough is quoted:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you there was not any evidence at all. Honestly," he continued, "I have never in my forty years' experience tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. This is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

The fact is crystal clear, the food chain asserts, that while the anti-trust lawyers constantly protest that they are not against "bigness," they only brought their bread suit against the big companies that sold good bread at the lowest prices, just as the current suit attacks a big company that sells good food.

FREEPORTERS CALLED FOR JURY SERVICE

Health Ass'n. Plans Course for Teachers

The Nassau County Tuberculosis and Public Health Association is to continue its course on school health problems for Nassau teachers.

Beginning with the coming semester, which will start on Feb. 7, this course will be offered by New York University jointly with the Tuberculosis and Public Health Association for two points of university credits. These credits may be applied to either under-graduate or graduate degrees and if necessary, can be transferred to any other University in the country.

As in the past, two classes will be conducted in Nassau County for teachers here. One will be attended by those wishing to take the course for the university credit, and the other for those who wish to take the course for two points of in-service credit, awarded by the New York State Department of Education.

The University class will be administered by Dr. Morey Fields, assisted by the association's three school health education consultants, Mrs. Katherine H. Fuehrer, Mrs. Grace B. Miller and Miss Marian V. Miller.

Bohack Reports Record Sales of Ice Cream

Summer time is usually thought of as "ice cream weather," but customers of H. C. Bohack Co., Inc., Brooklyn and Long Island food stores, are buying more ice cream during the winter months than they ever bought in June, according to company officials.

The reason for the boost in ice cream sales they say, is Glacier Club Ice Cream Cake Roll, the new desert treat which has started winter-time ice cream sales zooming. "The product is made by the Fassel Ice Cream Co., of New York, comes in a 12-ounce package serving four and sells for 35 cents at Bohack's. Flavorful Glacier Club ice cream, blended with tasty 'Newly Wed' chocolate cake, has created the amazing demand for this new product and has led Bohack officials to predict that ice cream sales this winter will reach a new high.

Present Day Children Love School Principal Tells Atlantic-South Civics

Children love school today, Clayton Williamson principal of the Archer st. school, said at a meeting of the Atlantic-South Civic Association in the school cafeteria Thursday night. Pointing out that when he and those in his audience were pupils, school was open from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. and the children were not admitted into the building until the bell rang at the former hour.

Now, he continued, school property is in use from 8 to 5, and the children have to be chased home then. Because school authorities believe activities in the playground should be supervised, someone has to be on hand at 8 o'clock when the children begin to assemble. They have to remain around until 5 to keep an eye on those who remain that late, he added.

Mr. Williamson said about 300 pupils remained during the noon hour and described how room had to be found for them in the building when the weather is inclement.

The present purpose of schools, he remarked, was to provide an overall education in which children can live successfully and become happy citizens. He explained that one of the aims of the principal and teachers was to find something in which every child can achieve success. All children, he said, cannot excel in his studies, but frequently it is found they can do so in athletics, which he said justified the inclusion of sports in the school activities. He told of the numerous basketball teams that had been formed at Archer st. to engage in intra-school games. He also told of extreme cases that had been resorted to satisfy the yearning of every child for success.

Mr. Williamson also said he made it a point to thank a child for the slightest service, and that he had frequently been admonished by youngsters, of 7 years, when he failed to do so. He said also that children craved affection which the schools were trying to give them.

The principal closed by repeating the figures showing the congested conditions in the school, saying the enrollment is about 800 and will reach 870 next year. He told of the numerous home development projects under way in the district as an indication that the problem of housing the children within the next few years would become a serious problem.

He pointed out that the Archer st. district takes in almost half the village, but said that until 1947 there was no problem because the area was so under-developed. He told of how the overflow was being taken care of in the new Seaman ave. school, this year, but said this could not long be continued. He added he favored using the old Seaman ave. school as an Archer st. annex until other provision could be made to handle the school population of the southern section.

Principal Williamson was introduced by President W. E. Watson.

Mrs. Edmund Rosendahl reported on plans for a dinner to be given in Guy Lombardo's East Point House on Wednesday night, Jan. 25, and appealed for a large attendance.

We're launching Dial Service in February

for 5,500 Telephones in

Freeport, Merrick, Roosevelt and North Merrick

We know you'll welcome the news that modern, fast dial service is almost here for many telephone subscribers in this area.

If you are among them, you will soon have better service than ever before. When you want to make a call to most neighboring telephones, all you will have to do is pick up your receiver, wait for the dial tone and then dial.

During the next few weeks, we'll call those getting dial service to make sure the new equipment is in readiness. At this time, we'll give you a chance to try your hand at dialing a number, and we'll answer your questions about the new service.

Meanwhile—until Dial Day—please continue to make your calls in the usual way.

Whitewashing in Boxing Scandal

The sport of boxing has sunk very low from an ethical standpoint in New York State, when the State Boxing Commission finds it advisable to whitewash a promoter against whom such damning accusations were made as those filed by Director Joseph Romeika of the Freeport Police Boys Clubs.

When seven boys admit that they, supposedly Simon pure amateurs, fought as professionals under assumed names at the behest of this particular promoter, and others of his ilk, there must have been something in the charges. Yet the State Commission could find no evidence of any violations of the commission's regulations. Patrolman Romeika feels a personal responsibility in the actions of the boys, and pointed out that the P.B.C. would have suffered irreparable damage had anything happened to one of the boys following an engagement in which he had participated without the knowledge of the local officials.

Mr. Romeika is to be congratulated on his determination not to give up the fight until the smelly mess is cleared up by the enactment of legislation in Albany that will make it illegal for a promoter to pit young amateurs against professionals instead of merely a violation of the commission's rules, which apparently are not being very strictly enforced.

Years ago the boxing game reached such a low estate, all professional matches were prohibited in this state. Then came the days when under the guise of amateur bouts, every ring participant was introduced as "a member of this club." This eventually led to the restoration of the sport to a legal status. However, unless something is done before it is too late it may be necessary to again ban professional boxing entirely by law as has been done in the past.

REFLECTIONS

By Edmund R. Wernicke

If Life Decees

Great god of Time, be swift if you would win;
Make haste to set aglow my final sun.
Perchance my art will prove where Man has been,
And all your wrath will never have undone.
For there is much that smoulders in my pen
Of human hearts, of passion and defeat,
That I may stir, to warm the hearts of men
Who shall not find the bitter, but the sweet.
If life decees, my song may soon be sung—
Perhaps a fragment, written out of trust—
And it shall still be beautiful and young
When granite tombstones topple in the dust.

Long Island Lighting Reports Successful Year

The Long Island Lighting Co. and its affiliates, the Queens Borough Gas and Electric Co. and Nassau and Suffolk Lighting Co. have just completed the biggest year in their history.

An indication of the phenomenal growth of the Long Island area is shown by the record number of new customers the company connected during the past year. In all about 12,000 gas and approximately 27,000 new electric meters were added throughout the Long Island Lighting System area.

New peak demands for both gas and electricity were reached during the year. In the course of the recent holiday season the System electric demand reached the record figure of 289,000 kilowatts.

A major accomplishment during 1949 was the substantial progress toward completing the plan to consolidate the Long Island Lighting Co., Queens Borough Gas and Electric Co. and Nassau and Suffolk Lighting Co. into one company. It now appears the merger should be completed during the early part of 1950.

Farewell Party Given Fox On Departure for Mexico

A farewell party was tendered Robert F. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Fox, 70 Lillian ave., by his fellow members and friends of the John G. Bob was surprised with many beautiful gifts. Among those present were Julie Taylor, Aileen Gerrity, Claire Prendergast, Doris Patti, Rose Lippman, Lynn Fox, Joseph Friedman, Mitchell Karrow, Richard Powell, William Keller, Arthur Berger, Larry Prendergast, Richard Lippman and Arthur Berger.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox are in the midst of celebrating their silver wedding anniversary. Fox and his family in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Fox have been residents of Freeport fifteen years.

The Leader Bookshelf

By MRS. ELIZABETH F. KELLY
Librarian, Freeport Memorial Library

Joanna McIntyre, a red-haired school teacher, believed firmly that she and her God walked together. When the young man to whom she was engaged became involved with another woman, she knew that it must marry the other woman, not until later realizing that she still loved him and was wrecking his life. The child of that marriage haunted Joanna all her days.

Gunnar Wicklund, middle-aged rich widower, was amused at Joanna's temper when displayed to him, and after watching her tutor his son, Magnus, asked Snapper (Joanna) to marry him. It is their son, Alec, who is indicated by the title "My Son and Heir." Five years later little Alec's boyhood years here were few. That was a hard blow to Joanna and her faith.

Then Joanna became immersed in village affairs, the Wicklund charitable foundation was organized and Joanna became known throughout the States. Contacts broadened her, her style of living at home changed, her future ambitions for Alec grew. Absorbingly told, this story of family life, incident by World War I, by Alec's marriage on his return, followed by his year or so in Paris, the need of his return to this country due to his father's advancing old age and the establishment by the government of old age and the inheritance taxes. The author, Isabella Holt, has given us an excellent character study in both Joanna and her development and in Alec.

As he says by his "south front and north front." Here is indicated the struggle between the ideas of an older generation and those of a younger one in which growing people live. For your enjoyment offer "My Son and Heir" by Isabella Holt.

Dog Star was 'Sothis' 'So this' was in Error

The Leader.
Sir: May I refer to the letter you courteously printed on page 2 of The Leader of Jan. 5? In regard to the calendar, somehow the Linotype Machine must, I suppose, have slipped because the name of the "Dog Star" SOTHIS got split into two words, yet you observed "You have it as 'So this'."

That sentence should read: However, that employed by the priests for astronomical purposes was calculated from the heliac rising of the "Dog Star"—Sothis, to that of the ensuing year and consisted of 365 1/4 years.

Doubtless most of your readers would know that the dog-star was called "Sothis" by the Greeks. It is otherwise known as Sirius. As almost every boy or girl in school knows, it is the brightest star in the sky, but what they may not know is that our so-called "dog days" in July and August were so called by the ancient Egyptians because it was then believed the heat and unhealthiness of those days were held as due to the rising of the dog-star (Sothis or Sirius).

But it is even more interesting to observe that the term of "the dog-star" is not merely because it is in the constellation "Canis Major" (Canis meaning dog), but because just as the dog is the "watcher," so the rising of that star betokened the rising of the River Nile, and the consequent inundation of the land with its availability to grow the crops and feed the nation.

This happened on the first day of the month Thoth. It was the first of the Seasons. And, in the time of Augustus (B.C. 24), it coincided with the 29th of August, Old Style.

This whole matter of our Calendar is thus one of deepest interest. Respectfully,
Oscar C. Shadwell

Entries must be submitted to the committee not later than April 30, and awards will be made before May 30. ### Nassau Red Cross Quota Raised to $274,000

Nassau County's quota in the annual Red Cross fund drive, which will start March 1, has been set at $274,000, John T. Pratt, Jr., general chairman of the 1950 campaign, announced today.

"Rigid economies will enable the Nassau Red Cross Chapter to maintain its 18 vital services for veterans, servicemen and civilians in the county at the same high level, despite the great growth of Nassau, with only a five per cent increase over the 1949 quota of $260,000," Mr. Pratt said. He headed the drive which went over the top last year.

An army of volunteers will canvass all homes and businesses in the county during the month of March. The county goal will be broken down into quotas for all communities and a local campaign chairman named in each.

Half of the $274,000 quota will be retained by the Nassau ARC Chapter to meet its budget for the year, Mr. Pratt added. The other half will go to the American Red Cross as Nassau's share in the national ARC program.

"Everyone who contributes during this fund drive will be enrolled as a member of the American Red Cross and the Nassau County Chapter during 1950," he explained. "There is no other basis for membership in the ARC."
